Dog wash set

The Granite City Association for the "Protection of Animals" will be holding a dog wash from 1 to 4 p.m. on Sunday, July 10, at the Animal Care Center, 9225 Maryville Road in Granite City. "If your dog is in need of a bath but you don't have the time, take him or her to the dog wash, where the APA will bathe your dog for you," a spokesman said. Donations will be accepted and will benefit the APA, which is a nonprofit, no-kill shelter that currently houses 50 dogs and 30 cats. For more information, persons may call 931-7030.

Census slated

The U.S. Census Bureau will collect data on employment and unemployment from area residents the week of July 17-22. The local labor force data will contribute to the national employment and unemployment picture Aug. 5, said Marvin L. Postma, director of the Bureau of Labor Statistics Kansas City regional office. Information supplied by individuals to the Census Bureau is kept confidential by law. Only statistical totals are published.

Car wash set

A car wash by the Senior High Youth Fellowship of St. John United Church of Christ is set for Saturday, July 9, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. The location will be the church parking lot at 2901 Nameoki Road, Granite City. The cost will be $5 for cars and $4 for trucks and vans. The benefit event will help finance the group's work-camp trip to Shannondale on July 24-30.

Fish fry Friday

Icelandic cod and catfish will be featured at a fish fry from 4 to 8 p.m. Friday, July 8, at St. Cyril and Method Eastern Orthodox Church, 4770 Maryville Road, Granite City. Dinners and sandwiches will be served, and carryouts will be available.

Council rejects term-limit election

By Bob Slate
Staff writer

Two proposals that would have a significant impact on Granite City government apparently died this week after they failed to garner enough support from the City Council.

On Tuesday, the council voted 10-5 against a proposal that would have allowed Granite City voters to decide whether all elected city officials should be limited to two terms of office.

By a 12-3 vote, the council also scrapped a proposal to have an ordinance prepared that would have made the street superintendent position appointed rather than elected.

While Alderman Jim Miller brought up the term-limit proposal last week, City Attorney Leo Konzen has since ruled that such an action would have to be approved by voters in a referendum.

Miller

On Tuesday, Miller proposed that an ordinance be prepared to put a question on the Nov. 8 ballot that, if approved, would limit all elected city officials to a maximum of two consecutive four-year terms, effective next April.

Miller said that voters are in a mood to make substantive changes in government and that limiting terms is a proper way to bring about change and ensure that fresh, new ideas are introduced.

"Elections are our whole process are a mess," Miller said. He said that elections are controlled by money and powerful political action committees. The system works against a newcomer with new ideas who wants to try to implement change, Miller said.

"The highest offices in the land have term limits — the president and governors."

"It's time for local government to stop being under the control of special interests," Miller said.

But Alderman Dan Partney said that voters have an opportunity every election to throw out any official with whom they are unhappy.

"Sometimes it takes expertise to bring about change and ensure that fresh, new ideas are introduced."

Street job plan loses

By Bob Slate
Staff writer

Despite a professional recommendation and apparent public sentiment, a proposal to bring the Granite City Street Department under the rein of the mayor failed to garner much support from the City Council this week.

On Tuesday, after virtually no discussion or debate on the subject, the council voted 12-3 against a proposal to have an ordinance prepared to make the street superintendent position appointed rather than elected.

If the proposal would have passed, current Street Superintendent Clayton "Jug" Harrison would be allowed to complete his term and a new superintendent would be appointed next May 1, City Attorney Leo Konzen said.

The proposal is among those recommended in the Melville Strategic Management Review of Granite City Operations.

The 128-page professional efficiency study was commissioned (See JOB, Page 9A)

County recycles trash plan

A major overhaul of the Madison County's recycling proposal is in the works, and it would take on the onus of responsibility off cities and put it on waste haulers and residents.

The changes, discussed Thursday during a closed-door meeting of top county officials, would require waste haulers to do curbside pickup of recyclables or risk losing their operating licenses, sources close to the discussion said.

In addition, the new proposal would require every resident of the county to separate recyclables from household trash and set them out on the curb in bins provided by trash haulers.

However, sources also said the residents to make sure they were participating.

The new plan is expected to be publicly aired at a joint meeting of County Board's Environmental Control and Legislative committees before the July 20 County Board meeting.

If approved by the full board, waste haulers would be required to have curbside recycling programs in place by Jan. 1, 1996.

Originally, county officials had proposed an ordinance that would have required every municipality with more than 1,000 residents to offer curbside recycling. That proposal also called for volume-based trash collection fees.

The proposal is aimed at reducing the amount of trash going into landfills and meeting a state-mandated 25 percent recycling goal by May 1996.

Two weeks ago, volume-based collection fees were struck down in the proposal after State's Attorney William Haine said such a provision would violate state law.

The Environmental Control and Legislative committees were expected to meet Thursday to approve the recycling portion of the proposal and send it on to the full board.

That meeting was canceled after officials concluded the recycling proposal may also violate state law, sources said.

When Haine struck down volume-based fees, he cited a state law that prohibits counties from regulating trash collection within municipal limits.

The same statute, sources said Thursday, would apply for an after-the-fact zoning exemption for his liquor store and gasoline station on residential property.

Bob Bell, owner of Bell Brothers Service Station at the corner of Washington Avenue and Edwards Street, will petition the city's Planning and Zoning Commission in August.

Bell will seek permission to expand the non-conforming use of the property to include a liquor and convenience store.

The Planning and Zoning Commission is an advisory body that hears public testimony on proposed zoning changes and makes recommendations to the City Council.

2 charged with child pornography

A 20-year-old man and a 17-year-old boy, both from Granite City, have been charged with child pornography.

They are accused of producing videotape of the teenager engaged in sex with a girl under the age of 18 years.

Police are still investigating the matter and further charges could be forthcoming, they said.

Joseph M. Christy, 20, of the 2200 block of Delmar Avenue; and Christopher M. Derleth, 17, of the 1200 block of Niedringhaus Avenue, were each charged with child pornography crimes in felony warrants issued Tuesday.

Christy, charged with a total of six counts of child pornography in two warrants, was being held Wednesday on bonds set at $100,000.

Derleth, charged with two counts of child pornography, posted $500 cash as bail on bond set at $50,000 and was released from custody.

According to the warrants, Derleth and Christy secretly videotaped Derleth engaged in intercourse with and fondling, touching or caressing a girl under the age of 18 in an incident at Christy's home June 29.

Christy then allegedly exhibited the tape to another person later that day, according to the warrants.

The person to whom Christy allegedly showed the tape told police about the incident, said Det. Rich Werth of the Granite City Police Department.

Police obtained a search warrant, executed it last Friday, and collected between 20 and 30 videotapes, a video camera and a video cassette recorder, Werth said.

Werth said one of the videotapes shows Derleth engaged in sex with the victim. Another tape indicates a second, unidentified victim, Werth said.

He said Wednesday police are continuing to view the confiscated tapes to determine whether additional crimes were committed.

Tax office open Saturday

Madison County Treasurer John Shimkus has announced that the county tax collection office in the Madison County Administration Building, 157 N. Main Street, Suite 125, Edwardsville, will be open Saturday, July 9, for the convenience of those who wish to pay their first installment of real estate property taxes prior to the July 11 penalty date.

The hours will be 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.

"Saturday office hours prior to penalty dates are a tradition I established since coming into office. They not only serve the public, but also enable us to receipt and deposit tax payments, which expedites distribution of tax dollars to the taxing districts," Shimkus stated.

"Thirty-five (35) banking locations throughout the region are again acting as collecting agents for my office, as a convenience to Madison County residents," Shimkus said.

Street vacated for wood treating plant

The Madison City Council heard two proposed ordinances and passed a new one at Tuesday night's regular meeting.

The ordinance approved vacates the city from and dedicates a portion of Washington Avenue beginning at Race Street to the Kerr-McGee Chemical Corp. Kerr-McGee plans to fence the area off as part of its plant operation, the treating of forest products.

City Attorney Casper Nighossian gave council members two proposed ordinances which will be decided upon at the next regular meeting.

The first deals with parking of trucks weighing over five tons, and the second involves administrative tickets.

In other business, the council voted to refund the 12th Street ball diamond fund for portable restrooms rented in May and June. The city restrooms were in need of repair, so portable ones were used. The refund will total $133 upon receipt of rental invoices.

Mayor John N. Bellico reminded the council that, as of July 1, a section of the Environmental Protection Act became effective. It no longer allows landfill operators to accept "white goods."

White goods are refrigerators, ranges, water heaters, freezers, air conditioners, humidifiers, stoves, clothes dryers, dehumidifiers, ovens, dishwashers, water coolers, heat pumps, chillers, furnaces and boilers.

In addition to white goods, hand-held appliances, televisions, video cassette recorders, garbage disposals, business or office equipment, computers and microwave ovens.

Not included as white goods are items no longer accepted are tires, batteries or any form of (See STREET, Page 9A)

Female crack addicts no secret to area police officials

Women addicted to cocaine may be the next of society's woes ready to come out of the closet.

The O.J. Simpson case has focused the public spotlight on spousal abuse, called "our dirty little secret" by Health and Human Services Secretary Donna Shalala. But experts say women addicted to crack cocaine are a growing problem that needs to be addressed.

Crisis Services Inc. sees more than 100 cases a year in Madison County of women who have a cocaine addiction problem, often accompanied by depression and incidents of violent behavior. Executive Director Amy Hilgemann said.

The problem gets little attention in the news media partly because, when police get involved, "a woman often is charged with a lesser offense."

"I think most people would be shocked at how many women in this area have a problem with cocaine addiction. It's a very difficult kind of addiction to overcome," Hilgemann said.

"Most of the referrals we get are from police and some from hospitals."

Assistant Police Chief Kim Pomeroy of the Granite City Police Department agreed women addicted to crack cocaine are a growing problem in Madison County.

He said the problem primarily affects women in the lower-middle class income levels and lower, but added that drug addiction knows no socio-economic boundaries. It is showing up not only in drug arrests but occasionally in the birth of crack babies in area hospitals, Pomeroy said.

Besides the birth of cocaine-addicted babies and increased crime, use of the drug has a depressive effect that can result in violence, Hilgemann said.

He said addiction to crack cocaine cuts across socio-economic lines and that women often use sex, rather than money, to pay for the drug.

Pomeroy said Granite City police have found that "many of the area's known prostitutes are involved with crack cocaine and a lot of them will do tricks for crack."

"Typically, the woman will turn her trick and then use the proceeds to purchase a rock," he said. "But in some instances we've run across, the woman will already have the drug in her possession and offer to share it with her client."

Crisis Services, based in Wood River, refers addicted women to drug treatment centers throughout the state, although the lack of insurance coverage is a problem, Hilgemann said.

Typically, the courts will give first-time drug offenders a chance to wipe their record clean if they complete a treatment program.

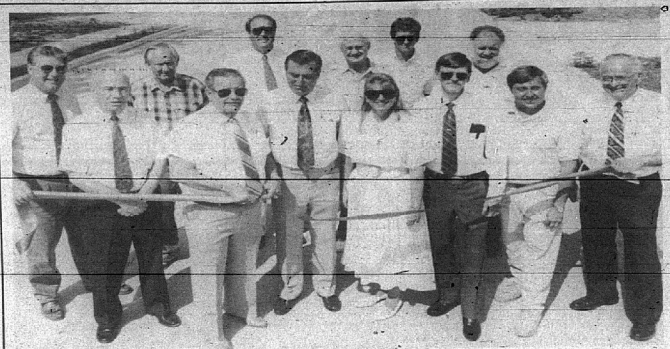

White crack addiction of women is slowly making its way to the forefront of attention, spousal abuse is riding a wave of publicity.

A bill sponsored in the House by Rep. Tom Ryder of Jerseyville, and co-sponsored in the Senate by Sens. Vince Demuzio of Carlinville and Evelyn Bowles of Edwardsville, would require the Illinois Department of Public Health to study spousal abuse. The bill has gone to Gov. Jim Edgar.

"Too often, people do not want to discuss the problem of spousal abuse. Maybe the tragedy surrounding O.J. Simpson will raise our awareness of this problem," Bowles said.

"Hopefully, with more discussion and the Illinois Department of Public Health's study, we can come up with the necessary information to help us in our continuing fight to stop spousal abuse."

Pontoon board reverses rezoning

The Pontoon Beach Village Board of Trustees may have avoided a lawsuit Thursday night when it changed a motion passed at Tuesday's regular meeting and agreed to reconsider a rezoning request. At the earlier meeting, Trustee Mike Macek made a motion to deny a rezoning request from T & R Development of Granite City. T & R had planned to open a roofing and construction company on Route 35 in Pontoon Beach.

The company hoped to get the property, currently zoned as agricultural, changed to B-2, general business. The rezoning board endorsed that request when it changed a motion passed at Tuesday's regular meeting. Bill Tindall, a T & R official, said the company would ask the trustees for a special session to discuss the issue. If that didn't happen, the company would file a lawsuit. Later Wednesday, Trustees Macek, Bob Abel and Bob Vincent called a special session for Thursday to discuss T & R zoning. "I made a rash decision Tuesday. I apologize for making that motion. I received several calls Tuesday opposing the rezoning. But, I blame myself because I haven't been doing my homework. You can bet I will from now on," Macek said during the special session.

County committee session erupts

Fireworks came four days early in a Madison County Board committee meeting that left some officials seeing stars and others seeing red.

County Board members Jack Frandsen of Alhambra and Don Garrett of Madison, continuing a months-old campaign against County Auditor Fred Bathon of Granite City, demanded copies of Bathon's travel vouchers for the last seven months during a raucous meeting of the Finance Committee.

Frandsen, who sparred with Bathon last month over the availability of county finance records, told Bathon and the committee that he thought it was improper that Bathon's office should have oversight of Bathon's travel claims.

"It's poor government for the same official to submit travel expense (claims) and then cut the checks for them," Frandsen said. Bathon, whose office oversees travel claims of board members and other county officials and employees, responded angrily and accused Frandsen of trying to stir trouble.

Garrett, who has been at odds with Bathon since September 1992 when it was revealed Garrett had collected mileage reimbursements for travel to nonexistent meetings, also hammered away at Bathon, suggesting the auditor had improperly used his office's $4,000 annual travel budget.

Garrett said he wanted Bathon's office applies to other officials' travel expenses.

Health agency may be created

By the end of this summer, the Madison County Board is expected to create a health department.

Some county employees would be shifted to the staff and the county would utilize extensive state financial grants as well as an existing tuberculosis tax. The department would monitor infectious diseases, private, sewage and well-water systems, and conduct restaurant inspections.

Paramedic offered drug rehab

A Granite City firefighter/paramedic who tested positive for cocaine while on duty May 27 will be allowed to return to work if he successfully completes a drug rehabilitation program.

Police beat

Battery

• Roger D. Holliday, 40, of the first block of Briarcliff Drive, was arrested at 12:47 a.m. June 27 for battery.

He allegedly struck a 34-year-old woman in the face with his fist while she was in her apartment in the first block of Briarcliff Drive.

• Oliver J. Rains, 79, of the 2400 block of Illinois Avenue, was arrested at 1:05 p.m. June 26 for battery and assault.

Rains allegedly struck a 26-year-old woman on the hand with a pug and threatened the man with a knife in an incident in the 2400 block of Illinois Avenue.

• Amy E. Britton, 19, of the 1600 block of Olive Street, was arrested at 12:41 p.m. June 25 for battery.

Britton allegedly struck an 11-year-old boy about the head and body when the boy made racial slurs and then refused to leave her yard, according to a police report.

Weapons

• Kenneth G. Phillips, 28, of the 1600 block of Maple Street, was arrested at 4:39 p.m. June 25 for unlawful possession of a weapon, possession of a weapon without a firearm owner's identification card, and unlawful possession of a firearm.

Police reported finding an IAI .380-caliber handgun and a bag of alleged cannabis in a gray Buick Riviera Phillips was driving.

Warrant arrests

• Tina M. Fitzgerald, 27, of the 2500 block of West 24th Street, was arrested at 8:25 a.m. June 23 on a St. Louis County felony warrant charging her with stealing.

SIUE official charged in accident

An administrator at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville is facing felony hit-and-run and drunken driving charges for allegedly running down two boys riding a bike.

James M. Krawitz was charged in the accident that left a 15-year-old boy with a broken back and broken knee and a 16-year-old boy with a fractured arm.

But the mother of one of the victims said she is angry that police waited two days before pressing charges.

"I feel let down by the police. I think they are being lazy and I feel we were deceived throughout this whole thing," said Denise Hughes, whose son, Kwane Jackson, suffered the broken arm.

Jackson and his friend, Torrence Johnson, were riding a bicycle across the parking lot of a convenience store near Edwardsville High School Monday morning when a pickup truck allegedly driven by Krawitz rammed the boys.

Krawitz, who is assistant coordinator of academic computing at SIUE, allegedly sped away after the accident, dragging the bicycle with the truck.

Krawitz was charged with two counts of driving under the influence and one count of leaving the scene of an accident, all of which are felonies. Bail was set at $9,000.

Access to records of child abuse debated

A bill sitting on Gov. Jim Edgar's desk has sparked debate about public access to suggestions that would be made by teams reviewing children's deaths.

If Edgar signs the bill, the review teams, like the one now used in Madison County, would be expanded throughout the state to investigate the cause of children's deaths and identify what, if any, steps could have been taken to prevent the deaths.

The bill's purpose is to prevent similar deaths by breakdowns in government bureaucracy, said Rep. Jay Hoffman of Collinsville, sponsor of the bill.

That is too often the case with the Department of Children and Family Services, which acts as surrogate guardian for 40,000 children, Hoffman said.

The legislation, which grew from a report released by the Child Fatality Task Force in January, cleared both chambers of the General Assembly and is waiting for the governor's approval.

Recommendations made by the teams would go directly to the head of the agency, according to the bill.

Hoffman said the multidisciplinary teams, which would consist of social service and human services volunteers, would best function if the names and specifics of cases weren't released publicly.

"We don't want to put family members through the public grief of an infant's death if they had nothing to do with it," he said.

But critics say the bill would protect the mistakes made by child-care workers by specifying that meetings and all records maintained by the review teams be closed to the public.

DCFS Director Jess McDonald agreed any recommendations in a team's report about the way DCFS can improve should be made public, but the meetings should be closed.

"It can get turned into a circus if the meetings are public," he said. "You can't have open meetings about private information."

The Madison County Child Protection Task Force doesn't share names and other details about local cases it investigates.

"There are confidentiality problems," said Assistant State's Attorney Amy Maher, chairwoman of the task force.

"We have closed meetings where the only people who keep the information are those who are present."

But the task force shares statistics and general recommendations to improve communication between agencies and departments, Maher said.

Neil Hochstadt, chairman of the Child Fatality Task Force, said the bill would be worthless if the confidentiality requirement is stricken from the bill.

"We wouldn't be able to get any one to serve on the teams if everything was public," he said.

Arbitrator favors

By Bob Slate Staff writer

An arbitrator favor of Granite City on every contract negotiation. Assistant City Firefighter Jay Fitzhenry said last week that his ruling increases, an add to pay step, and policy proposed by the city.

Fitzhenry chairman ruling as a dispute especially considered the condition of the city. Ed Hagnauer, Firefighters Local Union 1010, said the ruling could not be reached.

Firefighters have been without a contract since 1993.

The arbitrator's ruling says wages 3 1/2 percent effective an additional 3 1/2 percent increase in 1995, Fitzhenry said. Under binding ruling is final.

Arbitrator rules in favor of firemen

By Bob Slate
Staff writer

An arbitrator has ruled in favor of Granite City's firefighters on every contested issue of contract negotiations. Assistant City Attorney Ed Fitzhenry said last week that an arbitrator's ruling granted wage increases, an additional longevity pay step, and a drug testing policy proposed by the firefighters.

Fitzhenry characterized the ruling as "a disappointment, especially considering the financial condition of the city."

Ed Hagnauer, president of Firefighters Local 253, is on vacation until mid-July and could not be reached for comment.

Firefighters have been working without a contract since May 1, 1993.

The arbitrator's ruling granted firefighters wage increases of 3 1/2 percent effective that date; an additional 3 1/2 percent effective May 1 of this year; and a 4 percent increase effective May 1, 1995, Fitzhenry said.

Under binding arbitration, the ruling is final.

The city had been seeking a two-year contract with wage increases of 3 percent the first year and 2 1/2 percent this year, Fitzhenry said.

An additional longevity pay increase of 10 percent was added to the firefighters' schedule after 20 years of service, Fitzhenry said.

He said the city opposed the additional step increase.

The arbitrator also set forth a package of principles to guide future drug testing policy issues, Fitzhenry said.

While the city had been seeking a policy that included random testing, the arbitrator's guidelines have no provision for random tests except in the event an employee has already tested positive under reasonable suspicion.

Under the principles set forth by the arbitrator, firefighters may be tested under reasonable suspicion.

A first confirmed positive test would result in a minimum five-day suspension without pay and an offer of treatment, Fitzhenry said.

If a firefighter produces a second confirmed positive test during treatment, a minimum 30-day suspension is called for, under the guidelines set down by the arbitrator.

A third confirmed positive test during treatment of a second confirmed positive after successful completion of treatment would result in discharge.

Under the terms of the ruling, none of the disciplinary measures may be the subject of a grievance, Fitzhenry said.

State judges' salaries going up by 8.6 percent

The cost of justice has gone up.

Paychecks of state judges have jumped by about 8.6 percent — a 2.6 percent cost of living adjustment and a 6 percent increase recommended by the state's Compensation Review Board.

The judges will also get another 6 percent hike July 1, 1995, plus whatever cost-of-living adjustment is determined by formula.

On Friday, associate circuit judges' pay went from $82,477 to $89,242. Circuit judges' salaries went from $86,241 to $92,836.

Appellate court justices got a boost from $97,032 to $105,528 and Supreme Court justices' pay went from $103,097 to $112,124.

Legislators and various other elected and appointed officials also received 2.6 percent cost of living adjustments Friday, and they are in line for another 4.5 percent when new terms begin.

Positions include legislators, the governor and other constitutional officials and appointed department directors, assistant directors and various commissioners.

The state Constitution bars the legislative officials from getting the increases during their current terms, except for the cost-of-living adjustments.

Illinois House members and senators and statewide constitutional officers elected to new terms starting in January 1995 will get the increased pay then.

However, senators whose new terms don't start until January 1997 won't get the raises until then.

The base pay of legislators increased from $39,420 to $40,445 Friday.

That would go to $41,516 with the 4.5 percent increases effective with the new terms in January.

Transit board adopts '94-95 budget

By Hilley Schulte
Staff writer

Annual operating and capital budgets were adopted at a Madison County Transit District Board of Trustees meeting held Thursday morning in Pontoon Beach.

The capital fund balance as of July 1 is $7,000,000, with total revenue expected of $13,829,266 and total anticipated resources of $20,828,266.

Under capital expenditures, federally funded projects total $17,617,500, and the Granite City Transit Center is budgeted at $40,000.

The operating fund balance as of July 1 is $2,000,000, with total revenue of $9,552,000 expected for $11,652,000 in total anticipated resources.

In operating expenditures, the fixed route and paratransit costs are expected to total $8,000,000 and special transportation projects are set at $100,000.

Giving a Bi-State Development Agency report, Tom Sturges spoke of Proposition M. The proposition is a one-quarter-cent sales tax which will be included on the ballot in St. Louis County in the next election.

Sturges said that, if it is passed, the sales tax increase will lift Metrolink's worth by $1.5 billion over the next 25 years.

With the increased revenue, a number of light-rail transit line extensions, expanded senior and disabled services, and more security will all be added to Metro Link, he said.

Sturges commented that Metro Link recently served its seven millionth passenger.

He said President Bill Clinton was the first president in office to ride a light rail car the previous week when he rode on Metro Link during a visit to St. Louis.

Bill Duggan gave the Riders' monthly activity report. He said that, in May, a transit event, the "TWA Focus St. Louis" workshop, was held.

About 80 ride-share applications were generated by the workshop.

An introductory meeting with the Records Center also was held. There were representatives of the General Services Administration, National Archives and the Department of the Army, and an action plan was formed.

A presentation on RideFinders was given to the Maryland Heights Village Board, Duggan added.

Finally, the board passed a resolution to adopt prevailing wages for public works projects.

The board is chaired by Nelson Hagnauer, Madison County Board Chairman. Jerry J. Kane is Madison County Transit managing director.

Minority leadership program set

The National Association of Student Personnel Administrators will conduct its third Minority Undergraduate Fellows Program Leadership Institute July 7-10 on the campus of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

The four-day institute, "Empowering Leaders: Shaping a New Generation," will be presented in the University Center, in the Student Fitness Center and in the Tower Lake Commons Building.

Constance Rockingham, vice president for student affairs and MUFP national director, said 28 select students from around the country will attend the institute to participate in seminars and workshops about self-esteem, personal motivation, strategies for growth and issues concerning minorities in higher education, issues facing student affairs, and professional development.

Centennial plans launched for citywide party in 1996

It is still nearly two years away, but planning already is well under way for an appropriate observance of the centennial of Granite City.

The municipal government was created in the spring of 1896, several years after initial industrial and residential development here by the Niedringhaus family, founders of Granite City Steel.

Following activities occurring on the anniversary date, it is planned to hold the main celebration in late June and early July of 1996. Festivities would be centered around Wilson Park, much like this year's Fourth of July events but on an expanded scale.

It will be fitting to include the Granite City Park District in the city's party because the district itself will be 75 years old the same year the city reaches the 100-year milestone.

Details of the centennial events remain undecided, but a listing of the potential committees gives a hint of the scope of the celebration: parade, banquet, special events, industry, labor, displays, commerce and publicity. Those willing to volunteer their time and skills to one or more of these committees may write to the Granite City Centennial, P.O. Box 501, Granite City 62040 or telephone 452-0213 or 877-1208.

Barry Loman served as chairman of a massive observance in 1971 of the city's 75th and the park's 50th anniversaries. It is noteworthy that he is among those already involved as board members in the centennial planning, which is led by Elmer Stille, chairman and president; Mayor Ron Selph, honorary chairman; Melvin Wilmsmeyer, vice chairman; and Margaret Hopkins, secretary-treasurer.

It should be a fine party, and everyone is invited to attend and participate.

Affordable health agency available to Madison County

(Alton Telegraph comment)

After literally decades of on-and-off lobbying, it appears Madison County may finally get a health department, and at a price that can't be beat. An about-face by County Board Member Bob Stille, who had never been more than lukewarm toward the idea, is expected to lead to formation of a health department, perhaps by summer's end.

Stille, chairman of the board's Health Institutions Committee, will lead the board through the steps of creating a health department, apparently after becoming convinced by a state study that indicated a basic health department could be supported with only a minimal tax increase.

That study shows that only a three-quarter-cent increase in the tuberculosis clinic tax rate would be necessary, amounting to only about $1.30 a year on a house assessed on the basis of $50,000 market value.

The rate now stands at 1.4 cents per $100 of assessed valuation; with the three-quarter-cent increase, the total tax on a $50,000 house would rise from $2.33 a year to $3.63.

The study suggests that nearly half of the employees needed by a health department — eight of 20 — are already employed and performing health-related duties. Those workers would be transferred to the supervision of the new health department.

Lobbying for a health department was begun in the 1940s by a coalition of labor leaders and the Illinois Parent-Teacher Association, given voice by Paul Simon, then a young newspaper editor and now U.S. senator from Illinois.

In more recent years, area chapters of the League of Women Voters have continued the effort.

In the past few years, a coincidence of events focused attention on the fact that Madison County remains the only large urbanized county in the state that does not have a health department.

The county's lack of restaurant and food inspections attracted national attention with a segment on a network news show.

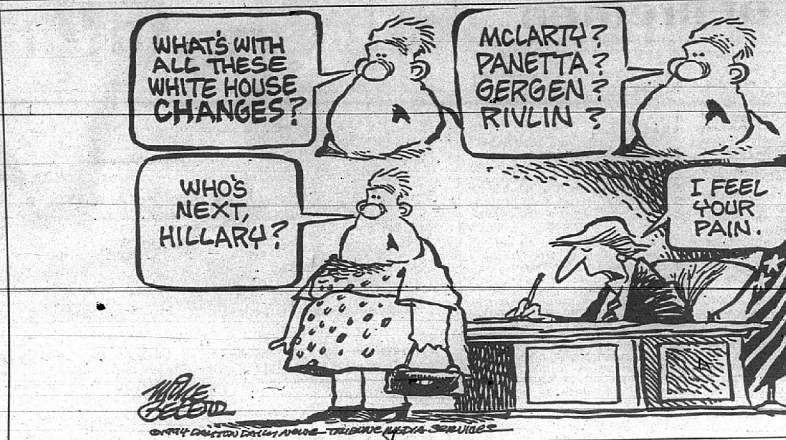

The Great Flood of '93 and this year's measles outbreak in nearby Jersey County pointed up a lack of overall monitoring of infectious and contagious diseases.

Problems with septic systems showed the lack of a formal program of sanitary inspections.

Some functions of a health department have simply gone undone in Madison County. A few others have been handled by other county departments.

And others have been seen to by a splintered network of other agencies that, while they have done their jobs ably, may have suffered from inefficiency prompted by a lack of coordination.

We're pleased that officials have not only found a way to offer county residents the important protections of a health department, but are able to do so at an almost negligible cost.

Clintons (lawyers) worried about high price of lawyers

Carol Clarkin writes this week's column for the Edwardsville Journal.

Life's little surprises. Don't ever kid yourself that they'll cease.

I was reminded of this a couple of months ago on a fine spring mid-morning on the old National Food parking lot on Buchanan Street in Edwardsville.

Neither the store nor the lot were crowded — there were probably only 30-40 cars on the lot, and I was exiting toward Vandallia Street when I got a mild jolt.

The young man involved was parked facing Vandallia, almost directly across from the former St. Boniface convent, and he was standing behind his open driver's side door, changing clothes.

As I came around the curve, he had just stepped out of his slacks and was bending over to pull on what appeared to be jogging pants. He wore no shirt. Nor undergarments of any description.

I didn't see his face and the tush wasn't familiar. This was a trenchcoat-clad flasher, just a guy changing his clothes in a very public place.

Did I call the police or notify the store manager? Nope, I just continued out of the lot, reminding myself that there's a first time for everything.

Our guest

A mild surprise.

Thus, it seemed only moderately surprising last month to learn that President Bill Clinton set a national precedent when he decided that his upcoming legal fees are probably going to impoverish him and that you and I would be delighted to help him pay them.

This is, presumably, all legal and above board.

All sorts of impressive folks are trustees of the new Presidential Legal Defense Trust — notable Democrats and Republicans alike, with the board headed by the Rev. Theodore M. Hesburgh, president emeritus of Notre Dame University, and Nicholas Katzenbach, a former U.S. attorney general.

The general idea is that ordinary people are going to jump at the chance to contribute a few bucks — contributions are limited to $1,000 per person — to help Bill pay legal fees that may top $2 million a year.

Corporations, unions and political action committees are barred from contributing.

All donations will be considered as gifts and the Clintons will incur NO tax obligation because of them.

But the contributions are not tax-deductible as far as the donors are concerned.

Bill himself started the ball rolling by tossing $2,000 in the kettle.

According to the rules of the trust, "When all of the Clintons' legal problems have been concluded, the trust will be terminated."

Any money that is left in it will be turned over to the Clintons.

They, in turn, have agreed to donate it to charity or turn it over to the federal government. Cross my heart and hope to die.

Thus, when Bill's problems are ended, the trust will cease to exist.

My big question is, "What happens to the next poor president who runs afoul of the legal system? Will he have to set up his own trust to pay off his legal fees?"

That's just one of my questions, come to think of it.

Dee Dee Myers, the White House press secretary, has been quoted as saying that the president is going to be faced with potentially high legal bills — and it's in the best interests of the country and the president to have those bills paid.

I'd go along with that, but why should you and I help him pay them?

them? Would he and Hillary help ME pay MY legal bills, should I find myself courtroom bound? Or yours?

Hey, I didn't just ride in town on the turnip wagon.

Then there's the nagging little question of what's going to be running up all those bills. Based on something that's occurred since the Clintons moved into the White House? In a word, no.

Both the Whitewater land venture investigation and the recently filed civil sexual harassment suit against Clinton date back to the years of his governorship of Arkansas.

I have no idea whether Bill, way back then, propositioned Paula Corbin Jones or not, but I see no reason for us ordinary folk to pay his lawyer to prove his innocence.

Good Lord! What if Nan Britton had filed a paternity suit against President Warren Harding back in the roaring '20s? Would taxpayers have funded his defense?

There's a bit of irony in what appears to be some bellyaching on the part of the Clintons about staggering legal fees.

After all, they're both lawyers themselves.

Am I going to rush right out to help rescue Bill with a teeny contribution?

Don't hold your breath.

Vital for owners of pet dogs, cats to spay and neuter them; millions being destroyed annually

TO THE EDITOR: This letter addresses the pet overpopulation problem and the spay and neuter solution.

Across America in 1992, 12.1 million animals were destroyed in animal control facilities. Dogs accounted for 6.3 million of the total and 5.8 million were cats.

All were pets no one wanted. Every time pet owners allow their pets to breed indiscriminately, they are adding to this problem. The reproduction numbers are astounding.

In six short years, a male and female dog with their puppies can produce 67,000 dogs.

In seven years, a male and female cat with their kittens can produce 420,000 more cats. In 10 years, the feline number jumps to 30 million. Plus, our tax money is paying for these unwanted pets to be destroyed.

The only solution is responsible pet ownership and spaying or neutering.

Spaying and neutering are safe, proven medical procedures to control pet overpopulation. It does not rob a male of his masculinity or a female of her womanhood; it just keeps them from adding to the growing problem. Also, spaying and neutering keeps your pet healthy and safe and reduces the risk of some behavior problems such as aggressiveness.

The cost for spaying or neutering varies, but with proper planning, the cost to the pet owner is minimal.

First, the pet owner needs to find a veterinary office or a discount spay clinic to do the procedure. Second, they need to call to receive a price quote.

Third, figure up a budget. If the spaying costs $30, then try to save $3 a week. In 10 weeks, they'll have the money.

For some pet owners, it will be difficult, but a small outback or two in their own spending habits can make the difference.

They'll also be saving money. In the long run (extra food for newborns, ads in the newspaper, etc.). Last, but not least, make the appointment and keep it. It is the best thing to do for your pet.

In addition, if the pet is an unregistered purebred, that pet should be spayed or neutered. There are enough breeders in this area breeding registered animals.

Breeding of unregistered animals is unnecessary and shows greed on the part of the unregistered breeder and contributes to pet overpopulation.

The best solution to pet overpopulation is spaying or neutering.

The Tri-Cities Area Association for the Handicapped will hold a day camp July 18-29 at Wilson Park Shelter 5. The camp will begin at 9 a.m. and end at 2:30 p.m. each day.

On Monday, July 18, swimming is planned in the morning and bowling in the afternoon. Participants should bring swimsuits and towels, a bowling ball and a lunch.

The rest of the week's activities will be held at the park. On Wednesday, July 20, there will be a cookout. Participants should not bring a lunch that day.

For Monday, July 25, swimming is planned in the morning and bowling in the afternoon.

On Wednesday, July 27, participants will attend the Madison County Fair in Highland and should not bring swimsuits or lunch. The group will return at about 3:30 p.m.

On Friday, July 29, participants will need to bring swimsuits and towels, but no lunch.

Camp applications can be obtained at the camp on July 18. Interested persons also are asked to call Kay Hahne at 451-9832.

It's convenient, it's nutritious and it's free.

The Granite City School District free summer lunch program, offered June 13 through Aug. 12 at Coolidge Junior High School and Prather Elementary School, has served an average of more than 300 free plate lunches each day this year, about three times the participation level last year.

"This program is available for every child who lives in the school district, regardless of their family's income level. I still have people telling me they think the program is only for low-income children," said Brad Eavenson, school district director of food services.

The district offers free lunch from 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. to every child, age 1-18, who attends one of the two program centers. Adults may also eat with their children at a cost of $2.

Eavenson said more than 4,150 lunches were served in the month of June.

"We are getting a lot of participation from the Park District Summer Recreation program, from kids attending summer school, from the Salvation Army summer Day Camp and about 150 to 175 per day who aren't participating in one of those programs," Eavenson said.

The cost of the food, cafeteria labor, some custodial labor, administration, utilities, use of the facilities and even transportation of food used in the program qualifies for reimbursement from the federal government.

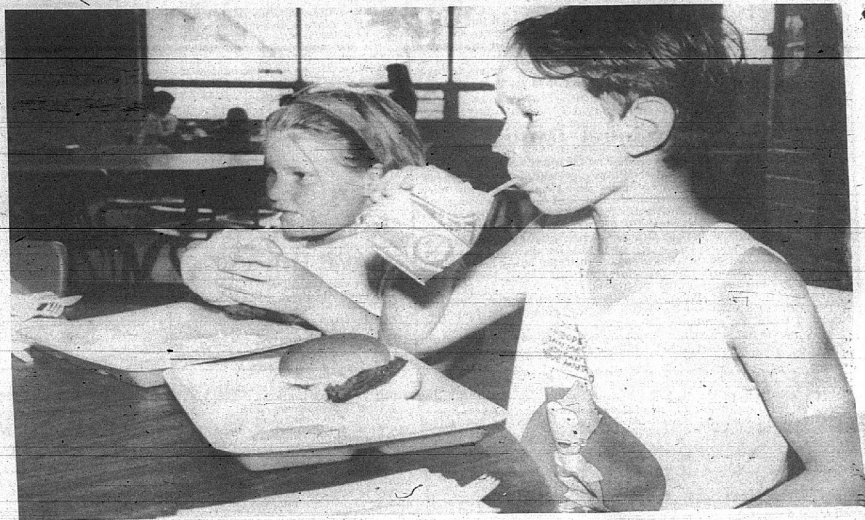

Ray Hoffman, recreation director for the park district, said that participation in the park district's summer recreation program at the Wilson Park Ice Rink is up this year.

"I think the lunch program is one of the reasons. It is convenient for parents, who don't have to pick up their kids or make other arrangements for lunch," Hoffman said.

Marcy Holsinger is a summer recreation counselor.

"The kids like the food. I even eat here," Holsinger said.

Debbie Buchanan, mother of two, said the program is very convenient for her and her children, who eat lunch at Coolidge about three times a week.

Eight-year-old Brandi Stugard, left, and Teddy Graham, 7, enjoy their lunch at Prather School during the free summer lunch program.

Her daughter Alicia, 8, attends summer band and summer recreation. Her son David, 6, likes to eat in the school cafeteria, she said.

"It saves me having to go home and cook. The kids like the food and they like for me to eat with them," she said.

Alicia said she enjoys the food served at the program — most of the time. "I don't like brussels sprouts," Alicia said. But convenience isn't the only reason people take advantage of the program, Eavenson said.

"For some of the kids who come in here, you just know it is going to be the only meal of the day. Mom sits with them and makes sure they eat every bite," he said.

The food is also high in nutritional value, Eavenson said. All plate lunches offered in the summer lunch program must contain milk, fruit, vegetables, meat and bread components.

The federal government has established new nutritional guidelines for school lunch and breakfast programs, to take effect in 1999 and emphasizing less fat content.

"But we're pretty close to those guidelines right now. I send our menus to St. Elizabeth (Medical Center) for analysis," he said.

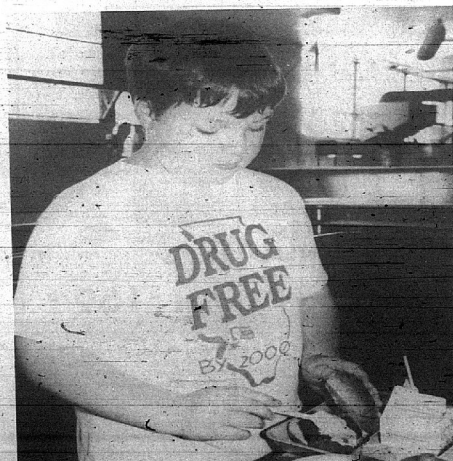

Eavenson said he would like to see the program offered at more locations next year.

Bible school at Nazarene

The First Church of the Nazarene will conduct vacation bible school July 11 through 15 at 4701 North Highway 111 in Granite City. The fun begins at 6:30 p.m. and ends at 8:30 p.m. each night. The theme will be "The VIP Club: God's Very Important People."

The daily schedule provides fun with crafts, recreation, music, bible games and stories. The goal of vacation bible school is to help children from age three to sixth grade discover that every person is one of "God's Very Important People."

The First Church of the Nazarene welcomes everyone to take advantage of this summer-time adventure. For further information, call 981-7873 or 797-2508.

Movie at Emmanuel Baptist

Dave Roever was a young soldier in Vietnam when more than 40 percent of his skin was burned off by a grenade exploding in his hand. He went blind in his right eye and deaf in his right ear.

Roever's amazing testimony about not only his physical recovery, but his emotional and spiritual healing, is one of the most dramatic you may ever see or hear. Through the faithfulness of God and the loving support of his wife, Brenda, he has experienced a restoration so complete that his message has been heard around the world — a message that can bring healing for the deep emotional, mental and spiritual scars tormenting today's generation.

"Scars That Heal" shares this unforgettable true story through today's generation.

Dave Roever's own words. While on the outside, he remains scarred from the grenade, he says: "My spirit is not patched together... I'm proud of my scars and stripes. Maybe my life hasn't been easy, but these scars tell a story."

"Scars That Heal" is a brand new documentary-style film with dramatic reenactments from World Wide Pictures, the motion picture ministry of the Billy Graham Evangelistic Association. Pastor William Mullis and the members of Emmanuel Baptist Church, 1800 Pontoon Road, would like you to attend this outstanding new film, "Scars That Heal," at 6:30 p.m. Sunday, July 10.

For more information, please call the church office at 877-1589.

Blackwood at City Temple

Jimmy Blackwood, singer and evangelist, will be featured in an evening of music ministry at City Temple Assembly of God, Sunday, July 10.

Blackwood has been traveling for 30 years sharing in gospel song. He is a part of the well-known Blackwood family of gospel music. His father, James Blackwood, is the only living member of the original Blackwood Brothers Quartet.

Blackwood sang with the Blackwood Brothers for 16 years before his ministry as a singing evangelist. He has been a guest on the 700 Club, TBN, the ACTS Network and a host of radio and television stations.

City Temple is located at 4751 Maryville Road. The service will begin at 7 p.m. and all seats are free.

Fairmount seeking off-track betting

Fairmount Park Racetrack officials has filed an application for an off-track betting parlor at the Alton-Belle Casino, an Illinois Racing Board official said.

The application was filed one day before the deadline for inclusion on the agenda for the July 12 meeting of the board. "Yes, they did file one. It got on the agenda last night," Deputy Director Jim East of the Racing Board said Thursday.

If the application had not been filed by Thursday, the soonest it could have been considered by the racing board would have been Aug. 16, said Scott Carpinelli, who is in charge of reviewing OTB proposals for the board.

A 1,200-square-foot area next to Ace's Sports Lounge aboard the Alton Landing, the Belle's docking facility, has been renovated for an OTB parlor that would be leased to

Since the Belle opened in September 1991, revenues at the track have dropped by about 50 percent.

Fairmount Park General Manager Brian Zander could not be reached for comment late last week.

Alton and Madison County would each get 1 percent of the amount wagered at the OTB parlor. The city of Alton also has the option of imposing a $1-per-person admission tax.

Carpinelli said Fairmount had filed a preliminary application for an Alton OTB parlor for consideration at the board's May 10 meeting but withdrew it before the meeting.

Fairmount will have to close or sell one of its five OTB parlors to open one in Alton, Carpinelli said.

East said Fairmount officials are asking to surrender their license for their parlor in Quincy, which sources said is the lowest-paying OTB parlor in the state.

Fairmount's other parlors are in Springfield, Effingham, Carbondale and Grayville. In the past, Fairmount officials have said they were concerned that locating an OTB parlor in Alton would reduce attendance at the races in Collinsville.

However, since the Belle opened in September 1991 revenues at the track have dropped by about 50 percent.

Fairmount Park, which provides employment for more than 600 people, is Collinsville's second largest employer, with only Unit 10 providing more jobs.

Hardee's will help health drive July 12

How can you turn fried chicken, a burger, a milk shake or fries into financial support for charity?

"Just have a good meal at Hardee's," said Byron Wampler, manager of the Hardee's Restaurant, 2642 Madison Ave., Granite City.

From 4 to 8 p.m. Tuesday, July 12, the Granite City Hardee's Restaurant will contribute 20 percent of total sales to St. Elizabeth Medical Center and the WINGS (We're Investing in New Growth at St. Elizabeth) campaign.

"This is our community, too," said Wampler, "and Hardee's is proud to support St. Elizabeth's efforts to provide good medical care for the people of the Quad Cities area when they need it the most. We're hoping for a big turnout."

The 1994 WINGS campaign will subsidize renovations of St. Elizabeth's existing emergency room, the new "urgent care" area to treat emergencies which are not life-threatening, and the Koch Family Health Center.

The two emergency department projects are expected to ease congested waiting rooms and decrease overall treatment time.

One important aspect of this renovation is a new X-ray machine housed within the emergency room and dedicated solely to emergency patients.

"Most people do not realize that St. Elizabeth's emergency room is the fourth busiest in the Metro-St. Louis area," said Dr. Steve Barr, medical director of Emergency Services.

THE LAW AND YOU

By RICK REED
Attorney At Law

Recently a landlord contacted this office and indicated that he was leasing commercial property to a tenant who was habitually late with the rent. The question arose as to what rights the landlord had to demand timely payments of the rent.

In this particular case, there was no written lease. The landlord and tenant were operating on a month to month basis. Some written leases will indicate that "time is of the essence" regarding the payment of rent. Without a written lease including such a provision, however, the landlord cannot claim that the tenant was put on notice that timely payment was expected.

There are several options the landlord has in a case of this nature. One possibility is to enter into a written lease with the tenant. This would provide for the amount of rent per month, the due date for the monthly rental amount, as well as other terms the owner of the property wishes to include in the agreement. The landlord could still make this a month to month tenancy, but with a written lease agreement he would have the protection of a specific due date for the rent.

Another option for the landlord in this case would be to send a demand for timely payment of rent even without a written lease. Once the tenant is put on notice that the rent is expected on a specific date each month, the tenant cannot then claim lack of notice. If he is late in a subsequent month after receiving such notice, the landlord can begin eviction proceedings.

A third option for the landlord in this case would be to immediately send a five day rent demand. If the delinquent tenant does not bring the rent current within the five day period, the landlord can bring a forcible entry and detainer action to remove the tenant from the property. Thus, it is possible to evict a tenant who is delinquent even without a written lease.

The lesson to be learned in a case such as this is that a written lease is preferable for the landlord who expects timely payments of the rent. It will be easier to establish in court that all parties were on notice as to the amount of rent and the due date of the rent when there is a written document signed by the landlord and the tenant.

Memorials are requested for the WINGS. We're investing in New Growth at St. Elizabeth's program at St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

Dr. Harold E. Toussaint, 63, of Granite City died at 10:42 p.m. Tuesday, July 5, 1994, at St. Elizabeth Medical Center after a three-year illness.

He was born Jan. 6, 1931, in St. Louis and had been a resident of Granite City for 28 years.

Practicing obstetrics and gynecology in Granite City from 1966 until his retirement in 1989, he served on the staff of Anderson Hospital, Mayville, and St. Elizabeth Medical Center, Granite City, where he was chief of staff for two years.

A graduate of Illinois College, Jacksonville, and the University of Illinois Medical School, he served his OB-GYN residency in San Diego.

He was a lieutenant commander in the U.S. Navy from 1957 to 1968. Dr. Toussaint was a member of the National Presbyterian Church, Granite City, where he served on the Board of Deacons and was part of the Windjammer Mariners; the Masonic Lodge in Jacksonville, Ill.; Boy Scouts of America Cub Pack 22, where he was a Webelos leader; and the American Medical Association, Illinois State Medical Society, Madison County Medical Society and American Association of Retired Persons.

Survivors include his wife, Joyce A. Toussaint; two sons, Sgt. Dana E. Toussaint of Jacksonville, N.C., and Darrell R. Toussaint of Granite City; three daughters, Karen M. Gross of Columbia, Kathy E. Dauer of Avon, N.Y., and Kris L. Dobler of Granite City; one sister, Katherine Fox of Virginia, Ill.; and three grandchildren.

He was preceded in death by his parents, Harold E. and Anna (Vannous) Toussaint.

Visitation is from 4 to 9 p.m. today at St. Elizabeth's Medical Center, 1700 Pontoon Road, Granite City, where services will be held at 11 a.m. Friday with the Rev. Lewis E. Trotter officiating. Burial will be at Sunset Hill Memorial Estates, Glen Carbon. Arrange-

William Albert Downs, 22, of Bullhead City, Ariz., formerly of Granite City, died suddenly Friday, July 1, 1994, in Bullhead City.

Retired BAC professor is honored

If you've taken a college math class in Illinois over the past three decades, chances are you've heard of the influence of what you learned.

Fadden, a retired math professor from Belleville Area College, recently received the Award for Distinguished Service to the Illinois Section of the Mathematical Association of America at the association's annual meeting in Champaign. He was cited for his numerous contributions to the ISMAA over the past 30 years.

Fadden retired from full-time teaching at BAC in 1993 after teaching for 30 years. He still teaches on a part-time basis at BAC and McKendree College.

Fadden described the ISMAA as an organization comprised mainly of college math teachers and college administrators in Illinois.

"It's people with a common interest who want to work out problems," he said.

The ISMAA actually has been in existence longer than community college districts in Illinois, which formed following the passage of the Illinois Junior College Act in 1965.

"When community colleges were formed, the MAA worked on curriculum," Fadden said. "We also worked on articulation agreements between community colleges and four-year schools."

Fadden said he was "astounded" when he learned of his award, especially because of the ISMAA's prestigious membership.

"I mean, you're talking about professors from the University of Illinois, Northwestern, DePaul," he said.

Fadden has served on numerous ISMAA committees through the years.

Mr. Berres attended Rankin Technical College in St. Louis, specializing in diesel engines, and was an avid fisherman.

Survivors include one son, James Berres of Huntville, Ala.; one daughter, Marilyn Nelson of Ladue, Mo.; one sister, Helen Wardlow of Alton; nine grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

He was preceded in death by his first wife, Geneva (Courtney) Berres, whom he married in 1935 in Granite City and who died Sept. 10, 1959; his second wife, Lois (Dauel) Berres, whom he married Nov. 5, 1960, and who died Oct. 10, 1993; one son and one brother.

Visitation is from 8 to 8 p.m. today at Kibler-Smith Memorial Funeral Home, 1104 N. Main St., Bloomington, Ill. 61701, where a prayer service will be held at 7:30 p.m. today.

Services are at 10 a.m. Friday at Holy Trinity Church, Bloomington, with the Rev. John J. Dietzen officiating. Burial will be at Park Hill Cemetery, Bloomington.

Memorials are requested for Holy Trinity Church or the American Cancer Society.

Sara Katz, 91, of St. Louis, formerly of Granite City and Mayville, died Wednesday, June 29, 1994, in a St. Louis nursing home. Born in New York, she resided most of her life in this area.

Her family first settled in O'Fallon, Ill., followed by moves to Mayville and then Granite City.

In 1919, while living in Mayville, she became a founding partner with her father, Herman Cohen, and her brother, Louis Cohen, in Cohen's, a retail grocery business that continues to operate in Granite City.

In the 1920s, she became the first woman postmaster of Mayville. The post office was located in the back corner of their grocery store.

She was preceded in death by her husband, Reuben Katz; two brothers, Louis Cohen and Dr. Jacob Cohen, a Granite City medical doctor; and two sisters, Tillie Sher and Ida Neuman.

Funeral services and burial were held Friday, July 1, in St. Louis.

"If you all decide you want to keep your jobs and continue to run for re-election, so be it," Miller said.

Miller and Aldermen Sandy Crites, Craig Tarpoft, Bob Page and Bob Shipley voted in favor of the term-limit proposal.

Partney, Skubish, Affolter and aldermen Walter Milton, Juanita Crawford, Edott Asadorian, Foster Frederick, Nick Petrillo, Mac Warfield and Lurton Pulley voted against the measure.

Mayor Ron Selph appointed Pulley to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of 5th Ward Alderman Tom Candier, effective July 1.

Skubish also opposed the term limit proposal. He said that change for the sake of change is not productive.

"We don't need 'neo-purists' condemning the past and promoting change. What we need is people promoting solutions," Skubish said.

Miller said that many of the aldermen are out of touch with the wishes of their constituents.

"If you don't think your constituents are out of touch with government and take an active role in changing government, you haven't talked to enough of them," Miller said.

Retired BAC professor is honored

If you've taken a college math class in Illinois over the past three decades, chances are you've heard of the influence of what you learned.

Fadden, a retired math professor from Belleville Area College, recently received the Award for Distinguished Service to the Illinois Section of the Mathematical Association of America at the association's annual meeting in Champaign. He was cited for his numerous contributions to the ISMAA over the past 30 years.

Fadden retired from full-time teaching at BAC in 1993 after teaching for 30 years. He still teaches on a part-time basis at BAC and McKendree College.

Fadden described the ISMAA as an organization comprised mainly of college math teachers and college administrators in Illinois.

"It's people with a common interest who want to work out problems," he said.

The ISMAA actually has been in existence longer than community college districts in Illinois, which formed following the passage of the Illinois Junior College Act in 1965.

"When community colleges were formed, the MAA worked on curriculum," Fadden said. "We also worked on articulation agreements between community colleges and four-year schools."

Fadden said he was "astounded" when he learned of his award, especially because of the ISMAA's prestigious membership.

"I mean, you're talking about professors from the University of Illinois, Northwestern, DePaul," he said.

Fadden has served on numerous ISMAA committees through the years.

Triplets set to begin travels with tourney

By Tony Panozzo
Staff writer

With two weeks to go in the regular season, the Tri-City Post 113 Triplets will be spending most of their time on the road—beginning with their longest trek of the year this weekend. The Triplets will take a break from District 22 play beginning tonight in Springfield, Mo., at the Springfield Post 630 Invitational. The round-robin tournament, in its first year, features six teams from four different states and figures to help prepare the Triplets for the rest of the season.

Tri-City, 10-3 in league play, will play seven of their final nine District 22 games on the road beginning next week. The Triplets will begin tournament play in Springfield at 6 p.m. tonight against Sylvan Hills, Ark.

THE REST of the teams in the three-day tournament are Sapulpa, Okla., Ballwin, Mo., Springfield, Mo., and Joplin, Mo. "I think everyone's real excited about going," Tri-City manager Doug Winfield said. "I think the competition will be real good. There are four states represented and that should be a good experience for us."

"It's going to test our pitching, that's for sure. We're going to get some of our pitchers some work."

Pitching has led Tri-City all summer. Staff ace Corey Dickerson improved to 5-0 Tuesday after working five innings of relief against Waterloo. Dickerson gave up two hits and allowed an unearned run.

Tri-City's three other starters, Mark Winfield, Jeff Ridenour, and Matt Yehling, have accounted for the team's other victories. Winfield is 2-2, Ridenour is 2-1 and Yehling is 1-1.

The Triplets, however, have struggled offensively in stretches and have also been prone to mistakes in the field. Doug Winfield hopes Tuesday's win at Waterloo was a sign of better things to come.

"WE PLAYED REALLY well defensively, and our pitching was excellent," Winfield said. "We only had two hits, but we hit some balls hard that were right at them."

"We haven't felt like we've been hitting on all cylinders yet. If we could just tighten up our defense, I would be happy. We've had a few lapses."

The Triplets have won six of their past seven games and are leading the North Division. Two of their three losses came against Alton, which is in second place.

The Triplets have played just once since last week, but there will be plenty of action waiting for them this weekend in Springfield. Tri-City will play five

GCMS football camp

Registration is now being taken for the 1994 Granite City High School summer football camp, scheduled for July 26-28 at GCMS.

The camp is for students in grades 7-12 and will be held from 9:30 a.m.-12 p.m. all three days. The cost is $20. Instruction will be provided by Warrior coach Don Harris, assistant Larry Curry and the rest of the GCMS staff. Each camper will receive a T-shirt.

The camp will stress individualized fundamentals and techniques and is designed to assist players in developing skills. Practices will be divided into offensive and defensive sessions. Campers will work at all positions individually and as a team.

O'Fallon drills Junior Triplets 11-2

Layoff leads to letdown against Post 137

By Rob Raphael
Correspondent

After not playing a Junior Legion game for a full week, the Granite City Junior Triplets looked a bit rusty as they fell to O'Fallon 11-2 Tuesday night at Varsity Field.

O'Fallon capitalized on three Tri-City errors, as well as five wild pitches and a passed ball by the Junior Triplets' battery.

Post 157, spent most of the evening circling the bases. "It was one of our better offensive games this year," said O'Fallon manager Dan Blazier. "I really think we caught them on an off night."

TRI-CITY MANAGER Jerry McKechnan agreed.

"It's a little embarrassing, really," McKechnan said. "It's just that we can play so much better than this."

O'Fallon collected 13 hits on the night, with eight of the nine starters hitting safely at least once, Right fielder Chad Vance led Post 137 with three hits and three RBI, while pitcher Eric Schwehr went the distance, allowing eight hits while striking out four and walking just one.

"Eric did a great job for us tonight," Blazier said. "Control is the key for him when he throws strikes and keeps the ball down, he can be very effective."

The top of the Junior Triplets' lineup had a good night, as Mike Kalips, Brian Lloyd and Jon Reader each contributed a pair of hits. But Tri-City left eight men on base.

JASON WILSON's groundout and Kalips' single in the second inning plated both of Tri-City's runs.

"We had plenty of runners on base all night," McKechnan said. "But we couldn't drive them in. We have to do that more consistently in order to win."

O'Fallon jumped on Junior Triplets starter Jeremy Hoback in a hurry, scoring twice in the first and four more times in the second. The knockout punch

Southern Region women back in hunt for PSG title

Returning players give Awsumb hopes for second gold medal

By Scott Marlon
Staff writer

Ron Awsumb has given himself a tough act to follow in his second season as head coach of the Southern Region open women's basketball team at the Prairie State Games.

"We won the gold medal last year," said Awsumb, who was recently named as an assistant to head coach Harry Statham for the McKendree College men's basketball team. "We're the No. 1 seed again this year, so everyone will be out to beat us."

"We have four players back from last year. Maybe we don't have as much talent this time, but we've still got a pretty good squad."

The Prairie State Games finals will be held July 15-17 in Peoria. The Southern Region team will play July 15 at the Peoria Civic Center.

THE LIST of Southern's returning players includes 6-foot Donna Luechtel of Okawville, who recently graduated from St.

Louis University. Her father, Dave, who also attended SLU, is the longtime coach of Okawville's boys team, while her brother, Ryan, will play for the Billikens this season.

"Donna is one of our better inside players," Awsumb said. "She's not a big scorer, but she's a great rebounder and plays good defense. It's like having another coach on the floor."

Other returning players are 6-0 Tawona Altheems (FBI, Mich.), 5-11 Jackie Hemann (Mater Dei) and 5-5 Terri Evans (East St. Louis Lincoln).

"Tawona was a junior college All-American at John A. Logan (in Carterville) and will be playing at DePaul this year," Awsumb said. "She was Logan's all-time leading scorer and was the No. 5 scorer in last year's Olympic Festival (while playing for the North team). She had 36 points in last year's (PSG) championship game."

"Jackie is a former University of Illinois player, although she didn't play last year. She still Corey Dickerson pitched the final five innings of Tuesday's win over Waterloo to improve to 5-0 on the year.

On the fly — Paddlers swimmer Matt Yehling competes in the butterfly. Yehling placed second in the 100-yard butterfly during Tuesday's meet against Montclair, which outscored the Paddlers 352-303. The Paddlers won the diving portion of the meet 60-29.

Missouri waters provide plenty for float fishing

Fishing for stream-bred smallmouth bass, along with the other finny critters that prowl such waterways, ranks high on the list of outdoor things to do, over and over again.

And Missouri ranks as high as any state for places to enjoy such activities. In fact, a book from the Missouri Department of Conservation entitled "Missouri Ozark Waterways" lists more than 2,000 miles of float stream opportunities.

Smallmouth bass are the primary species for float fishermen, but there are largemouth and spotted (Kentucky) bass as well. And there are rock bass, commonly called "goggle-eye" because of their prominent eyes with the red spots. And there are hard-fighting, great-tasting green sunfish and brightly hued long-ear sunfish.

The idea of float fishing is to put some form of maneuverable boat onto the river at a spot upstream. From there, the float downstream with the current to a prearranged take-out point.

While some anglers think they must paddle constantly, the idea is to let the stream's current do most of the work. You guide the boat with a pole or electric motor, then trail away with the fishing tackle of your choice.

While I've caught my fair share of river fish on a fly rod, which is fun, my favorites are extra-light spinning or baitcasting tackle spooled with four- or six-pound-test monofilament line. This tackle allows me to use the types and sizes of lures which produce the most fish.

Some float anglers like to stop and anchor to use live bait. I mostly minnows or crayfish for the bass and worms for the goggle-eye and sunfish. But most anglers prefer to keep drifting and to use artificial lures.

Float fishing artificials can be broken down into three general categories: topwater, underwater, and running lures and bottom bumpers.

Some anglers will use one type almost all the time. However, others like to mix it up. Personally, I like to take at least three different rod-and-reel combos, with one of each rigged at all times. Sometimes, I'll rig two rods with one kind and the others with one each.

In the topwater category, several different lures work very well. Small 1/4-ounce buzz baits — big flat-bladed spinner baits that stay on top — can be very productive, especially for big fish. They can be any color you want, as long as they're white, chartreuse or gray.

Many anglers will use a small minnow-type lure, such as a Rapala, Rebel, Ratlin' Rogue or Bomber Long A, for a long time. They twitch and shake it, making it look like a minnow diving on the surface. In the clear water of the stream, silver with a black or blue back tends to work best.

A third popular topwater is the Tiny Torpedo, a fat little lure with a propeller on the tail. Fish it with steady twitches to make it dart and slurp at the same time — and hang-on! Shad or minnow colors, sometimes yellow, seem to be the best colors.

Under the surface, small crank baits, like the Deep Little N. Rebel Deep Wee R and Wee Wark, do a terrific job of catching fish. Rebel's Crawfish series has been very, very productive. Obviously, the brown-orange crawfish colors, followed by green-orange or minnow-silver colors, are best.

Small single or tandem-bladed spinner baits also work well. Try white, black and white, and chartreuse skirts and trailers.

My favorites are the bottom bumpers — jig-and-frog combinations, small plastic worms and small plastic crayfish. Use a 1/4-ounce leadhead jig or a slip sinker and hook for these lures.

While they do bump along the bottom, most of the time these lures swim or drift with the current. I like to cast upstream and let them swing and bounce downstream. It takes practice.

On the jig-and-frog, use 1/4-ounce jigs with Uncle Jigs 101 pork frogs. Brown-black, brown or orange or purple and black color combos work well.

With the plastic worms, the four-inch size with a straight or curly tail produce equally well. Colors are limited only to your imagination, although the darker colors like black, pumpkin, purple or motor oil tend to work best. But don't overlook bright colors like orange or even bulbous pink (I didn't say that).

Cast to objects like logs and big rocks, especially jigs above and below riffles (shallow water dropping into deep holes).

Enjoy the fishing and the constantly changing scenery. That's float fishing.

Fishing

The following is a statewide fishing report issued by the Missouri Department of Conservation for the weekend of July 7-8.

RIVERS
Big Niquan (above the park) — 63 degrees, normal, clear, all species fair.
Big Piney (Lower) — 77 degrees, slightly up, clear, all species good; best success early and late on all baits.

Big Piney (Upper) — 73 degrees, clear, normal, smallmouth and largemouth bass good on small spinners and live bait in early a.m. and late p.m.; small mouth and largemouth bass on small spinners and live bait in afternoon; all other species fair.
Big Piney (Lower) — 61 degrees, dingy, normal, catfish good by all methods using natural bait; bass good on buzzbaits and plastic worms.

Black (Upper) — 77 degrees, clear, normal, goggle-eye fair on minnows; all other species good.
Chariton — High, muddy, all species poor.
Current — 78 degrees, murky, 1 foot above normal, walleye fair with trotting methods; panfish good on worms; all other species fair.

Eleven Point — 82 degrees, dingy, 1 foot above normal, trout good on corn and spinners; all other species fair.
Gasconade (Middle) — 78 degrees, slightly up, dingy but clearing, all species fair with best fishing times early and late.

Gasconade (Upper) — 79 degrees, dingy, low, all species fair on purple plastic worms; sunfish and goggle-eye fair on live bait on worms and minnows; all other species poor.

Horoscope

Mercury finally goes direct in Cancer, fashion and new relationship roles. People see through lies, sales pitches and weak excuses. Juggling multiple jobs or assignments adds to your personal creativity and power. Amusing incidents lead to both friendship and love. Singles should nurse sagging love affairs because they still have great future potential. Unusual financial schemes are profitable.

ARIES (March 21-April 19). You are a lightning rod for innovation. Protect ideas to reap future profits. Practical jokes lead to misunderstandings. Supposed "experts" are fallible. A partner has difficulty compromising. Your luck involves credit.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20). Appearances are deceptive. Provocative discussions bring out your intelligence. Quality is more important than speed at school and on the job. Insist that a lover do his or her share of errands. Forgive a pal's mistake.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21). You are a breath of fresh air. Other people capitulate to your savvy arguments. Your gut instincts are proven correct. Health and exercise regimens also save money. Your financial plans need to be modified.

CANCER (June 22-July 22). A lover's behavior is quite surprising. Remain calm, and explanations will follow next week. Avoid making advance plans. Resolve unanswered questions by confronting a colleague. Spurge on a gift for a child.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22). Timing is everything, so act only when you are ready. Potential employers are easily impressed. Share personal possessions with a close friend or lover to deepen intimacy. Explain your reasons for breaking a rule.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23). Have courage in your convictions — even in love. A new romance with a Libra or Gemini is great. Commitments come very quickly if you ask. Delayed business are commitments come very quickly if you ask. Delayed business are commitments come very quickly if you ask.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 21). Cooperate with a partner, and projects are finished more quickly and with more financial potential. Be objective about a dispute. A colleague or competitor is flirtatious. Invest in a product that promotes health.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21). Stop rescuing a loved one, and take more pride in your own life. Volunteer work changes your point of view. Explore a talent — even if a relative has ridiculed your effort. Tough choices ensure financial stability.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19). Set aside old, worn-out formulas for romance, and be imaginative. Artistic, cultural projects are time-consuming but have potential to make you a star. Consider a change in your job or residence.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18). Present co-workers, employees and parents with several options. You discover bargains — and your negotiating skills are strong. Old school chums prove to be valuable business allies. Dazzle a lover tonight.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20). Others are watching to see how you react to a decision. Be noncommittal. Treat a pal who is down on his or her luck — this encourages others to be generous with you. Take a more active part in the life of a child or sibling.
